Birthdays In Memory of

Gracelyn Ciara Massey
April 3, 2007

Happy Birthday my sweet ladybug! It's been 4 long years since I heard your sweet tiny cry and held you in my arms, but I still remember like it was yesterday. My arms still ache for you and so does my heart, but I know you are floating around in Heaven with Grandma and Grandpa. I hope you visit in my dreams again so I can see your beautiful little angel face. I love you to the moon and stars! Infinite kisses, love, Mommy and big sister Zoe

If I Could Take

*If I could take a minute out of each and every day, to hold my child close to my heart and kiss his fears away.
If I could take a minute out of each and every week,
to play with blocks and peek-a-boo, tag or hide and seek.*

*If I could take a minute of any span of time,
I'd never waste a second of the pleasures that were mine.
If he could crawl upon my knee and lay his sleepy head,
upon my shoulder tenderly and dream of gingerbread.*

*I'd spend my time in total bliss and watch my small son grow, from babyhood to childhood, knowing all there is to know.
If I could stop my aching heart and put my mind asleep, if I could stop the flow of tears that are always on my cheek.*

*I only need a minute, Lord, I know he's safe with you, but there's something real important that I had no time to do.
If you could do it for me, Lord, here's a message he should know, tell him that "I Love Him," and that I'll never let him go.*
